

ALLEGED BLACKMAILERS ARE IMPRISONED

GARBAGE CAN LOOTED TO BUILD "TRAFFIC"

FILTHINESS IS PLAY'S FEATURE

Oakland Audience Is Filled With Disgust by Portrayal

Council Upholds Committee; Play Will Not Go On

The City Council, after a lengthy hearing this morning, sustained the action of Chief of Police Petersen and Mayor McGinnis in stopping "The Traffic."

By JAMES S. TYLER.

"THE TRAFFIC" would scarce be a term that would commercialize a play if it were not for the fact that it carries with it all that goes with vulgarity and the extremes of some of our latter-day conceptions of what the stage ought to be, from a financial point of view.

"The Traffic" as presented at the Macdonough theater last evening was to surprise Oakland what the tenderloin would be to a good woman. "The Traffic" was a surprise, so much a surprise and so disgusting in its presentation, that astonishment followed and hid behind a blush of shame. The audience, thin of number, seemed mortified that it should have been subjected to such an exhibition of pandering to the lowest of the low—the element that through current usage, or custom, is gradually undermining the sanctity not only of the church, but of the stage as Shakespeare, Marlowe and others knew it.

SMELLS TO HEAVEN.

If "The Traffic" in plays carries with it the price of such creations as that offered by Oliver Bailey and Rachael Marshall, let's have done with the game. One might excuse Bailey, but no one can excuse the woman. Neither can one smear with the excuse of "professionalism" the fact that a woman with the talent of Nana Bryant has undertaken to portray a part that smells to heaven, and then some. Agnes Burton, the bedraggled creature of the cast, was such a woman as Tess of D'Urberville, with all that was good in Tess eliminated and all that was bad in her exaggerated a hundred fold.

TINSEL AND SHADOW.

From the top of the bill down to the humblest name upon it there was that which made one hesitate in favor of a continuance of the performance. The company made the impression of a group of fairly talented actors and actresses lending a plot that had inception in a red-light district and never got outside of its tinsel nor its shadows. "The Traffic" is all that will bear. It is the price of commercialized spectacularism.

LAKESIDE BURGLAR IS AGAIN AT WORK

Visits and Robs Three Apartments; Leaves Burnt Matches

According to the police, the "Lakeside Burglar" who committed many burglaries in that district two months ago, is again at work. Yesterday the apartments of C. P. Rowland, a well known singer and leader of the choir of the First Unitarian Church, at 1502 Alice street, were entered and articles valued at $25 were secured by the daylight burglar. Later in the evening the apartments of C. J. Ward, in the Persia apartments, Thirteenth and Madison streets, were entered. A watch, $8.50 in coin and some checks were taken. The residence of Mrs. E. W. Eber, 476 Crescent street, was also entered yesterday afternoon, but the burglar secured nothing of value. In each case the burglar left burnt matches about the places visited by him, as was done in the case of 30 other burglaries that occurred in this district some two months ago, which leads the police to believe that the same man is now ransacking the fashionable apartment house district. Most of the burglaries occur during the daylight hours, while the occupants are out. The burglar invariably uses matches to find his loot, and leaves them scattered about the apartments which he enters. For a month the apartment house burglar has not been working, but last night he started out again. During his previous operations he secured loot to the amount of $2000 or more. The police thought at one time that they were about to apprehend him but he escaped.

PRESIDENT SILENT ON MEXICO

For First Time Refuses to Discuss the Situation

England's Hand Not Yet Shown in Troubled Republic

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—At his usual semi-weekly conference with the newspaper correspondents today President Wilson for the first time declined to discuss foreign relations, and asked to be excused from speaking of the attitude of Great Britain or any other phase of the Mexican situation.

The President's departure from his custom of speaking frankly on international affairs was regarded as deeply significant regarding the situation caused by the actions of Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, and Great Britain's attitude toward the Mexican situation generally.

MONTEREY BESIEGED.
DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 23.—A dispatch to the Times-Herald from a reliable source on the Mexican border announced that Constitutionalists had surrounded Monterey, Mexico, and expected to assault that city today. Monterey is the most important city in northern Mexico.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Development attending General Felix Diaz's attempt to campaign for the Mexican presidency and the latest turn in the situation between the United States and Great Britain over the latter's attitude toward Mexico engaged the attention of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan in conference during the day.

As the elections of October 26 approach, the administration here is in a waiting mood. Huerta's attitude leads to the belief that as announced by this government, pointing to the inability of his government to conduct a free and fair election may be expected.

Upon advice from the embassy at Mexico City of the arrest of Daniel and Evaristo Madero, the brothers of the late president, Secretary Bryan today directed Charge O'Shaughnessy to use his good offices with the Huerta government to obtain a fair trial for the two accused.

OFFICIALS ARE SILENT.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In the absence of any more information from British official quarters, comment on the Mexican situation was generally confined to brief questioning the genuineness of the alleged interview given.

New Haven Road Stock at Lowest

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad today reached a new low record in the history of the company. The statement of Chairman Elliott at the annual meeting yesterday regarding a probable reduction in the dividend rate from 6 to 4 per cent caused the slump which carried down the price 3 points to 82. Later it rallied to 83.

If the payment was reduced from the 8 per cent rate, paid many years ago, to 6 per cent.

"Finest" in Parade Before Portola Riots Police Review Is Impressive Spectacle

EVENTS OF CARNIVAL MANY

King Balboa and Queen Sepulveda Have a Busy Day

Motor Boat Races, Golf and Soccer Attract Crowds

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The second day of San Francisco's joy riot opened at 10 o'clock this morning with an imposing review and inspection of the San Francisco police department at Van Ness avenue and Hayes street. The city's "finest," nearly a thousand strong, marched in parade before a throng of enthusiasts of the Portola carnival and the crowded grandstand containing invited guests from all over the state. Mayor Rolph, the board of police commissioners, the board of supervisors, police judges and other city officials took part and great interest was taken by Chiefs of Police Petersen of Oakland, Conrad of Alameda, Arnold of Richmond and Vollmer of Berkeley, who occupied points of vantage. Among other police officials who accepted invitations were the chiefs of police of Sacramento, Vallejo, Stockton, San Jose, Fresno, Los Angeles and Venice, together with the sheriffs of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Alameda and Kern counties.

CHIEF WHITE IN COMMAND.
Chief of Police White was in personal command of the review. Kelly of Company F acted as adjutant. The officers made a fine showing, parading with ten companies of patrolmen and a troop of cavalry, besides the motorcycle squad and the traffic squad.

Van Ness avenue was jammed with a crowd of sightseers and the streets were roped off for the occasion. Queen Sepulveda and King Balboa had a difficult time today keeping track of the various events. Their gracious majesties were kept hustling from one part of the city to another.

The motorboat races at China Basin attracted a large crowd. Out at the Country Club the golf championship contests were watched by an interested crowd.

This afternoon at the stadium the British public will be entertained by the British soccer football.

Tonight will be "Irish night" of the Portola fete. Thousands of loyal sons and daughters of Erin, coming here from all sections of California to participate in the Portola fete, will be entertained by the local members of the original Gaelic Dancing Club.

In the Auditorium, Fillmore and Page streets, this celebrated organization of patriotic Irishmen will conduct its thirteenth annual Irish concert and ball tonight. The visiting Irish clans will be guests of the Gaelic club at the affair. The Portola queens and their retinue are expected to attend. County Clerk Harry I. Mulcrevy and his bride will lead the grand march.

CHESTER ROWELL MAY TRY FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP

In response to an inquiry from THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE as to whether he is a candidate for United States senator, Chester H. Rowell today made the following statement: "FRESNO, Oct. 23.—Answering your inquiry regarding possible candidacy for United States senator, I have not definitely determined, but have the matter under serious consideration. I made the following statement in the Republican this morning referring to dispatches from San Francisco regarding movement there to urge my candidacy: 'I have for some time been receiving numerous letters from all over the country for the United States senate. I had preferred not to reach any decision until I had made a statement at this time, but the matter took such positive shape at an informal gathering of a number of Progressives in San Francisco yesterday as to obligate me to take it under very serious consideration.'

"The representations of a widespread desire for my candidacy came from men who are personal friends and long time supporters of Francis J. Heney and who were therefore above the suspicion of being actuated by personal hostility to him. It is of course not necessary to make a final decision so long in advance of the primaries, and I will first have to try to reach a conclusion whether the general sentiment favoring my candidacy is really as strong as it was represented to me by my San Francisco friends to be."

"At any rate if I should determine to be a candidate for the Progressive nomination, the contest with Mr. Heney would be an absolutely friendly present friend, and if he were nominated he would have my heartiest support under the direct primary. The only way to ascertain the preference of the voters is to submit the question to the voters. Any real sentiment existing among them ought not to be denied the opportunity of expression. It is only in this spirit that I would consider being a candidate at all."

RETURN INDICTMENT AGAINST H. K. THAW

Four Others Charged in Conspiracy for His Escape

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A blanket indictment charging Harry K. Thaw and four others with conspiracy in connection with his escape from the Mattewan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane in August, was returned by the grand jury here this afternoon. It will be used as a weapon by William Travers Jerome in his efforts to extradite Thaw from New Hampshire.

The others indicted were former Assemblyman Richard Butler, Michael O'Keefe, "Gentleman Roger" Thompson and Eugene Duffy, who are alleged to have been Thaw's companions in the automobile in which he escaped. These are the same men for whom warrants were issued in Dutchess county after Thaw's flight. Bench warrants on today's indictment were issued by the court and turned over to detectives of the district attorney's office.

Mr. Jerome announced that he would ask at once Governor Glynn for extradition papers based on the new charge to be sent to the governor of New Hampshire.

Chinese Lottery Joint Raided at Emeryville

District Attorney Hynes participated in a raid in a Chinese lottery joint in Emeryville last evening, in which John Carlson, owner of the building at 5717 Fifth street, and three Chinese were taken into custody. They were released on $500 cash bail each, and were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Quinn today.

A large amount of paraphernalia was taken as evidence in the raid. Action on the part of the district attorney followed an investigation by detectives which has been quietly going on for several weeks into conditions in Emeryville.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Unless a special bill is introduced to the Legislature for the payment of the fees of William Salzer's counsel, they probably will not receive a cent for their work. Nor will they take the initiative in having such a bill introduced. Judge D. Cady Herrick said today: "We shall not ask the state to pay us." "Nor do we expect any pay from Mr. Salzer. He has not paid us anything and we shall not ask him for a cent."

DYNAMITE FOUND UNDER BARN FLOOR

Explosives Unearthed in Stable Near San Diego Federal Building

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—Sixteen sticks of dynamite have been found under a stable near the new federal building in San Diego and the police this morning arrested one suspect, although it is expected he would be released later today for lack of evidence. The discovery of the dynamite followed soon after the return to Los Angeles of "Red" Ryan, who is charged there with being implicated in the planting of dynamite at various places in that city. The police of San Diego believe Ryan knows about the dynamite and what it was intended for. The dynamite was found by a teamster under a building owned by a transfer company.

LEADER OF GANG IN TOILS

Oakland Police Break Up Accused Ring of Chinese Criminals

Extortion Practiced on Compatriots of Four Cities, Say Officials

THROUGH the capture of Min Yoke Ying, a clever Chinese woman, and George Leong, whose real name is said to be Leong Wing, the police believe they have at last caught the leader of a gang of Chinese which has been for the past year making a practice of blackmailing and robbing their countrymen in San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton and Sacramento. The woman is declared to be the queen of the blackmailing ring and the brains of the group.

Four Chinese are being sought in Oakland and descriptions are being sent out to other cities in the hope of rounding up the entire gang.

According to the police the blackmail ring operated to victimize Chinese merchants and men of family who were not protected by the Chinese tong and who feared to appeal to the local police for protection. The gang used various methods to obtain an end, occasionally resorting to open robbery and burglary, but for the most part using devious means to obtain information about the private affairs of its would-be victims and then blackmailing them with threatening letters into giving up large sums of money.

Merchants of San Francisco and other cities in which the gang have been operating in the past year have contributed, the police say, thousands of dollars to the treasury of the gang. Wing and the woman were arrested in a lodging house at Seventh and Washington streets by Inspectors Niles and Burdette. Information obtained by the local Chinese merchant who was robbed last Saturday night. The police fear that in this particular case they have not sufficient evidence to bring a felony charge against the woman, but hope to obtain information of other cases in which she is alleged to have been active. Wing, who is said to be the chief assistant of the queen of the gang, has a wife and four children in San Francisco, and is a brother of one of the biggest merchants in that city.

ONCE SOCIETY BELLE; NOW A DRUNKARD

Sad Case of Ella Smith, Scion of Well-Known Family

Declaring that drink caused her downfall, Mrs. Ella Smith, formerly an Oakland society girl, Mills College graduate, and member of an old and respected family, pleaded with a police judge in Stockton for a chance to reform when brought before the tribunal yesterday on a charge of vagrancy, according to dispatches received here. Liquor, she said, caused her estrangement from her family, her husband's leaving her, and finally landed her in court. Her case was continued and her Oakland friends have been notified of her plight.

Years ago, as Miss Ella Farrington, scion of a wealthy California family, she was well known in east bay circles. She graduated from Mills College, and later completed her education in Europe. She married a wealthy man on her return.

The will of the late Henry J. Dalton, pioneer foundryman of Oakland, was filed for probate today. The estate is estimated to be worth $100,000. The widow, Mrs. Dalton, is named as executrix.

CITY COUNCIL SUPPORTS THE CHIEF OF POLICE, WHO STOPPED "THE TRAFFIC"

Commissioners Decide That White Slave Play Is Not Fit for the Public Stage

To mention this play in detail would be imposition on the common decency of the average public. To see it is not to taste the bitter sweet of Whittier, but to delve into the vile, though clever creations of Swift. The story has for a base a so-called "sociological problem," which it dience, is replete with "moral effects." It is "The Lure" had much that even "The Lure" had to leave out.

NOT SUCCESS AS NOVELIST.

Agnes Burton, the leading character, who would prove to the world that woman is the natural victim of influences from which she cannot escape when placed on her own resources in a world full of temptation, was a poor excuse for a moralist. Sympathy was naturally with her in her somewhat self-imposed troubles, but when the outrageous bedroom scene was enacted, when the cries from the chamber are heard, the scene changed and the indescribable condition of the room shown, the sympathy for the woman is lost in a feeling of intense disgust. It was at this point that District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes, John Mullins, President of the Alameda Board of Supervisors; Dr. O. D. Hamlin and Chief of Police Petersen, a committee of investigation, quietly arose and went to the rear of the theater. This was the end of "The Traffic" so far as Oakland is concerned.

BAN DECIDED UPON.

Chief Petersen announced that the play should not be further presented. The District Attorney agreed with him. There was a slight delay on the stage, but when it was made known that the evening's performance would be allowed to continue, the company again fell to their work. The audience was none the wiser except those among them who had been close to where the officials of the censorship board were sitting.

Nana Bryant ought to be in a better cast. She, Laura Adams and the balance of the company played "The Traffic" to the limit and played it well. But the shame of the thing was there. That so good a company would lend itself to such a rank production was the wonder of all. The condemnation of Miss Bryant, not for her vocation as an actress, but for the "sociological" outrage to which she has lent her talents, was on every tongue.

The audience moved from the house with the feeling that it would be best to drop forever the curtain of public disapproval on such plays and the men and women who act them.

City Council Upholds Police in Stopping Play

The city council after a lengthy hearing this morning sustained the action of Chief of Police Petersen and Mayor Mott in stopping "The Traffic." The matter was brought before the council in the form of protest against the action of Chief Petersen filed by Manager F. A. Gleesa.

theater. I came here reluctantly today to protest against its use in this instance. I do not want the theater managers to believe that we are responsible for stopping good ones.

"We fight anything that makes evil attractive; or that arouses passion. I believe this play might be of that nature. After I saw it I realized that it was corrupt, vulgar and obscene; that of the Macdonough theater this morning.

The council sustained the mayor and chief of police in the face of protests from several members of the old board of censorship and of several citizens who had worked hard for the passage of the ordinance placing the power of censorship in the hands of the mayor and chief of police. It was contended that "The Traffic" presented vice in a repulsive and offensive form, and that doing so a moral was taught and the spectators were induced to hate vice and work against it.

Commissioner Bacus contended that a white slave play might be watched by a wide-minded person of some ex-had witnessed the play, and that she felt that no one could see such spectacle without having felt more than before.

Miss Beattie J. Wood declared that the production was "absolutely sordid," said Miss Wood. "It gave the tragic and awful side of this life. But if the city council goes on record against depicting the hard and sordid side of this life of prostitution, it must also go on record against depicting the funny and the rosy side of it. We have had many plays that made prostitution attractive. We want no more of them, and if the council is against this play it must be consistent, be against those also. Then let us have clean, decent drama in the future here."

"If you think that every section of life should be portrayed in the theater," said Turner, addressing the Rev. to Palmer, "Would you then approve of slumming parties to the Barbary Coast in San Francisco?"

"I would if the entire picture was shown," answered Rev. Palmer. "If the depths as well as the surface was shown, but it would be like taking the life and the morgue and the graveyard as well."

After some discussion among the councilmen, Commissioner Bacus moved that the mayor and chief of police be sustained. The vote was unanimous, although Turner's amendment should be carefully looked to. I have not seen this play and cannot speak concerning it.

"Will you act as a committee of one to pass upon it and recommend formal action to this council?" asked Commissioner Turner. "I for one would abide by your decision."

I have also to have this responsibility on my shoulders," answered Dr. Palmer.

The discussion was taken up by Manager Gleesa of the Macdonough. Manager Gleesa explained that at the performance yesterday almost 95 per cent of the audience was composed of women, and that these were women of the better class.

"LOVE GIRL" ISSUE.

"Was there one young girl among them?" demanded Turner. "There may have been," answered Gleesa. "It is hard to keep people out of the theater."

"Is it not true that the purity of one girl worth more than all the lessons that can be taught mature people?" responded Turner. "I believe that there can be no difference of opinion among thinking people on a subject of this kind."

"Some time ago we had under discussion the proposition of placing the teaching of sex hygiene in the schools. There was a meeting attended by a number of teachers, physicians and clergymen and experts on child training. There was not one who did not declare that these subjects must be approached with the young and innocent with the utmost care and in the right manner, or more harm would be done than good."

"They all declared, and all experts agree, that the discussion of sex matters may be extremely dangerous if it is not handled properly. Can there be any sensible person who fails to see that the public theater and the mixed audience and the commercialized play, filled with sensational details, is not the place to present matters of this kind?"

"Could we invite a number of women from these organizations to attend a performance and make recommendations?" asked Gleesa. "Women who have seen the right things prevail and who are working for decency."

QUESTION OF WISDOM.

"This is not a question of the decency of the women or their desire for the right," Turner replied quickly. "It is a question of their wisdom, though."

"This show is a mass of sentimentality and slush, from the description of it as being today. It is a question of psychology as to how much of the slush makes its appeal and how much of other motives and desires are intermixed."

Mayor Mott explained his attitude in the matter. He said:

"The chief of police called my attention to the fact that the play under discussion was to be produced here and that he had seen it in San Francisco. His description of it showed me that it was not the kind of thing we want in Oakland and I told him to stop it."

His investigation last night left no doubt in his mind or in mine that the show should be stopped. He ordered the withdrawal of the production, and I fully sustain this action."

UP TO COUNCIL.

It now rests with the city council to say whether we shall be revoked in this matter. The council has that right.

Louis Overstreet, a citizen, protested against the withdrawal of the play, declaring that children who had a right to see a performance that would be for their moral welfare and that would cause them to hate vice and work against it.

It was an appeal to fight against the evil on our sides, to protect young women, to deal with a grave economic problem.

CHANCE TO LEARN, PLEASE.

"Girls have said to me that if they had only known, before they went into the life of prostitution, what that life meant, they would never have gone into it. This is an opportunity for them to learn and be warned."

"The people of America ought to rise up and stop this sort of thing," answered Mayor Mott. "I do not agree with you that it is good in any way. It appears to me to be bringing down the drama, which is a noble and good thing, to the level of the house of prostitution."

PLAY SCORED BY MAYOR AND CHIEF

"I want to see this play with a group of men of the world. They were all in accord with me that the play was rotten."

"When it comes to presenting a full picture of the interior of a house of prostitution to be viewed by mixed audiences, composed of young men and women, girls unescorted and escorted, it is time, in my opinion, to draw the line."

"I do not feel that the public stage is the place to present such a scene as that which is so strongly shown in 'The Traffic'."

"To use this subject as a purely money-making enterprise is not, in my judgment, a valuable contribution in morals," he left the theater before the close of the performance.

"I cannot see where such a play has any claim for public support," said Hynes today. "As depicting the downfall of a woman and the lures that lay in her path under such circumstances, it might have been correct. But to be witnessed by a young woman, it held only an undecent and instruction in the ways of the underworld instead of pointing out another course for one in her predicament. There are safeguards in cities for young women, but the play does not tell about them. It ignores them and only shows the path that leads to complete downfall and even murder. It is not a true picture of the things in the city of prostitution. It is a menace to any community—to the young women of virtue and to any who may have erred at any time."

Miss Bryant, Defends Play

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Nana Bryant, who plays the leading role in "The Traffic" and who was long a favorite with Oaklanders by reason of her connection with a playhouse there, is emphatic in her belief that despite the sordidness of the drama in which she nightly appears, she is doing a great deal of good for the young men and the young women who attend the performance. She will not admit that the play is vile, that its lines are filthy, and that its situation is "rotten."

"I do not think that the performance can be interpreted as giving such an impression," she replied delicately. "For proper minded men and women there is no reason for 'The Traffic' influencing them in any way except for good."

"Isn't it true that the play is filthy beyond mention and that it should not be seen by young men and young women of tender years?"

BELIEVES IN LESSON.

"I will answer that by saying to you that if I had a daughter, I would want her to see 'The Traffic.' I would want her to see the things that I would not be afraid of my own results. I believe she would be benefited by her experience."

"But this play, with its plain speech, lures to the theater, does it not, a crowd of young men and young women who seek to have their minds and senses played upon by all that is bad in their make-up, and with the hope that they will see something usually forbidden."

"In looking at the audience before the leave and that later others who come are drawn by the magnet of the lesson 'The Traffic' teaches."

"If you were looking at the situation from the aspect of a moralist, could you conscientiously say that your work has not resulted in debasing numbers of those who visited your performance and who listened with ears open, anxious that no unmeaning look, no word with a double meaning, no suggestive posture might escape them?"

"No, indeed. On the other hand I believe that were I to take your view point, I would say that a good work has been accomplished."

RISES TO DEFENSE.

Miss Bryant's eyes flashed, "our play ran four weeks here before we packed house, one continued. We played five weeks in Los Angeles. We have been constantly praised for the lessons the drama teaches."

"The wife of Mayor Ross of Los Angeles wrote an article in eulogy of our performance. She said it has been the same. Our play is not half as bad as the 'Girl in the Taxi,' where everybody laughs at immoral situations. It cannot be compared to those old plays, 'Camille,' 'Sapho' and 'Zaza,' where the woman of the underworld is glorified. It is not the objectionable plain speech of 'The Lure,' although I do not myself object to that same straightforward everyday language. They find fault with us. Our play is not indecent. It is far less objectionable from any standpoint. These things are in the world, we can't get away from them. Too often, though, the picture of a girl's life is a story in the view of the novice until some play like this discloses the sordidness of the life is undernourished and exposes the whole to view."

Play Does Not Tell of the Safeguards:

District Attorney

District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes was among the audience that witnessed the first night of "The Traffic" at the Macdonough theater last night.

Disgusted with the presentation of what he termed a "sensational play entirely lacking in morals," he left the theater before the close of the performance.

"I cannot see where such a play has any claim for public support," said Hynes today. "As depicting the downfall of a woman and the lures that lay in her path under such circumstances, it might have been correct. But to be witnessed by a young woman, it held only an undecent and instruction in the ways of the underworld instead of pointing out another course for one in her predicament. There are safeguards in cities for young women, but the play does not tell about them. It ignores them and only shows the path that leads to complete downfall and even murder. It is not a true picture of the things in the city of prostitution. It is a menace to any community—to the young women of virtue and to any who may have erred at any time."

PLAY SCORED BY MAYOR AND CHIEF

"I want to see this play with a group of men of the world. They were all in accord with me that the play was rotten."

"When it comes to presenting a full picture of the interior of a house of prostitution to be viewed by mixed audiences, composed of young men and women, girls unescorted and escorted, it is time, in my opinion, to draw the line."

"I do not feel that the public stage is the place to present such a scene as that which is so strongly shown in 'The Traffic'."

"To use this subject as a purely money-making enterprise is not, in my judgment, a valuable contribution in morals," he left the theater before the close of the performance.

Miss Bryant, Defends Play

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Nana Bryant, who plays the leading role in "The Traffic" and who was long a favorite with Oaklanders by reason of her connection with a playhouse there, is emphatic in her belief that despite the sordidness of the drama in which she nightly appears, she is doing a great deal of good for the young men and the young women who attend the performance. She will not admit that the play is vile, that its lines are filthy, and that its situation is "rotten."

"I do not think that the performance can be interpreted as giving such an impression," she replied delicately. "For proper minded men and women there is no reason for 'The Traffic' influencing them in any way except for good."

"Isn't it true that the play is filthy beyond mention and that it should not be seen by young men and young women of tender years?"

BELIEVES IN LESSON.

"I will answer that by saying to you that if I had a daughter, I would want her to see 'The Traffic.' I would want her to see the things that I would not be afraid of my own results. I believe she would be benefited by her experience."

"But this play, with its plain speech, lures to the theater, does it not, a crowd of young men and young women who seek to have their minds and senses played upon by all that is bad in their make-up, and with the hope that they will see something usually forbidden."

"In looking at the audience before the leave and that later others who come are drawn by the magnet of the lesson 'The Traffic' teaches."

"If you were looking at the situation from the aspect of a moralist, could you conscientiously say that your work has not resulted in debasing numbers of those who visited your performance and who listened with ears open, anxious that no unmeaning look, no word with a double meaning, no suggestive posture might escape them?"

"No, indeed. On the other hand I believe that were I to take your view point, I would say that a good work has been accomplished."

RISES TO DEFENSE.

Miss Bryant's eyes flashed, "our play ran four weeks here before we packed house, one continued. We played five weeks in Los Angeles. We have been constantly praised for the lessons the drama teaches."

"The wife of Mayor Ross of Los Angeles wrote an article in eulogy of our performance. She said it has been the same. Our play is not half as bad as the 'Girl in the Taxi,' where everybody laughs at immoral situations. It cannot be compared to those old plays, 'Camille,' 'Sapho' and 'Zaza,' where the woman of the underworld is glorified. PURCHASING POWER... EFFICIENCY... FACTS... TEST...

Purchasing Power—We buy FURS from the trappers before anyone wants them—before the great demand is on—from now until January, while the skins are at their prime. We have eighty odd trappers at all seasons, trapping and hunting skins for this house exclusively. This has enabled us always to sell to Eastern and European markets, qualifying us all the more to sell direct to the wearer. Our collection of furs of every kind under one roof comprises more than all the furs carried by all of our competitors in the city of Oakland. Now, where shall you buy furs and when shall you buy furs?

Efficiency—Mr. M. H. Robinson is a factor in the fur market for buying furs and making them into fur garments. Upon his authority we buy, make and sell into hundreds of thousands of dollars furs to satisfaction. We are not satisfied unless we do a little better all the time for you, to enable us to retain our purchasing power in the market. We strive for your assistance.

Facts—The public always sets the demands. We study this demand to be prepared before the prices advance. What the demand is and while the demand is such we start out buying—then we are prepared to sell our merchandise for less than the wholesaler can offer—and we still make a profit. As we have had to meet Uncle Sam's requirements and the last price, for a number of years past, so the same applies to all of our customers. We believe in quantity and quality—we are ready to serve you with the best at the lowest price, and prove to you these facts.

10% Discount

Test Purchasing Power—Efficiency—Facts—

These three characteristics are our test. What we can sell—how much and the kind we can buy by offering an extra 10% discount on all merchandise in our store, including remodeling and orders (along with our low prices) until the first of November only to those who bring a copy of this advertisement from either of the newspapers that we advertise in so that we might be accurate as to where efficiency lies.

Love at First Sight Are Wedded Now

ELMHURST, Oct. 23.—A love romance culminated in a fashionable wedding in Elmhurst last night, the bride being Miss Emily Julian Bachellette, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Radcliffe of Stonehurst, and the groom, Herbert S. Magee of Elmhurst. The wedding was solemnized in St. James Church, Rev. Father Powers of St. James Church, San Francisco, officiating.

It was a case of love at first sight when the couple met in Elmhurst, the bride-to-be coming there from Philadelphia. Had it not been for the death of Magee's father the couple would have been married last year. Magee is well known and popular in this quarter. He is engaged in the lumber business, and besides his home here has interests in the Northwest.

Last night's ceremony was attended by a large number of relatives and friends, and the wedding was one of the prettiest ever held in Elmhurst. In addition to the regular wedding music, a quartet from the Orpheus Club, and a solo by the bride, the ceremony was a most interesting one. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Magee left for an extended honeymoon to Del Monte and the Carmel country. They will reside in a bungalow, which is being prepared for them in Elmhurst.

HUSBAND AND WIFE BURIED SIDE BY SIDE

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 23.—Circumstances of more than usual pathos attended the double funeral this afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. John Birchenaill. Stuart's Calcium Wafers will drive all blemishes away and make your face a welcome instead of an unwelcome sight. You'll no longer be a slave to pimples, acne, blackheads, liver spots, boils, eczema, tetter or any skin eruption.

Every tick of the clock means work, work, work for these wonderful Wafers. They are put up in convenient form to carry with you, are very palatable, and are sold by druggists everywhere, at 50 cents a box.

DIAS AWAITS DEVELOPMENTS.
VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 23.—General Felix Diaz remained here today, surrounded by handful of followers. He admitted no definite time had been fixed for his return to the federal capital and he will not go there tonight, although most of his partisans, including Jose Luis Reguera, who is running for the vice-presidency on the same ticket, have left for Mexico City. General Diaz asserts that he has received no orders to leave Mexico. The list of those arrested in connection with his return to Mexico was increased last night to 17.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Including the virtual completion of the Panama Canal among the "Benedictine Providences" which the nation, he says, has enjoyed in the past year, President Wilson today issued his first Thanksgiving proclamation, naming Thursday, Nov. 26, as the day for the people to give thanks for the nation's blessings.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing
Better at any Price.
Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste like licorice. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, emphysema and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiac and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HAS BERKELEY FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer Is Found in the Straightforward Statement of a Berkeley Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Oakland citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring towns. This frank and earnest statement by a well-known and respected resident of Berkeley will set this doubt at rest.

W. S. Gilbert, 1756 Vine street, Berkeley, Cal., says: "For about two years I was troubled by pains in my back and hips and was unable to get relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. Since taking them I have had no further cause for complaint."

FLOATS WILL DEPICT HISTORY OF STATE IN LARGE PARADE

Eleven floats, which will depict the history of California from the days of the first settlers and the old missions until the present day, will be the contribution of the Native Sons and Native Daughters for their division in the great Portola parade tomorrow.

This section of the parade will be distinctive from the other floats and will be under the leadership of Mr. Charles H. Cassassa.

John E. McDougall will portray Neptune on float "California." This display will depict the wealth and productions of this golden state. Fruits from the great valleys, grain and wheat from the wonderful irrigated districts, commerce, mines and oil wells will be typified. Seven native daughters will shower fruit and flowers upon the crowds from "horns of plenty" as the float is driven along the line of march.

Another float which will be symbolic of the early life in this state will be the "Father Junipero Serra" display. This will show one of the famous old missions, which are dear to the hearts of all Californians. It was Father Junipero Serra who established the mission in this state.

Roland Roche, a prominent Native Son, will portray this beloved priest.

ARGONAUTS IN FLOAT.
"The Argonauts" will be a float showing the early pioneers crossing the plains with their oxen teams on their way to California. Here will be displayed the difficult task encountered by these pioneer men and women in their endeavor to reach the land of sunshine and plenty.

The discovery of Drake's bay by Sir Francis Drake will be depicted by a float portraying the landing of the discoverer on the shore amid a gathering of Indians. James E. Fitzgerald, of Menlo Park, Native Sons, will portray Sir Francis Drake.

Another historic scene will be that of the first American flag raising on California soil. This occurred at Monterey in 1846. When Commodore Montezuma de la Cruz and his flagpole of the custom house.

The new float in line will depict another stage in the life of the early white settlers. It is named "The Pioneer." It will show the mode of living of argonauts, displaying a log cabin and an earthen fireplace.

When the first transcontinental railroad was completed linking the West with the East a ceremony was held in California and the last spike was driven. This will be portrayed by the float, "The Last Spike." It will show the scene at this epoch-making event which meant so much for California.

While California was not admitted to the Union as a state until 1851, a ceremony was staged in Sonoma in 1846 and the Bear Flag, California's emblem, was hoisted to the breeze. This event will be typified by a float which has been named "The Bear Flag Raising."

The Spanish grandee and Hidalgo, who first set foot on the Pacific coast in the early days, a pony express and Mendocino will be the other floats in the Native Sons and Native Daughters' section of the Portola parade.

This entire section will be ablaze during the four days of merrymaking.

The Chinese Six Companies has spared no expense in their decorations. Large red and yellow streamers cover the building from roof to sidewalk, while about the different windows of the Six Companies headquarters are paintings of Balboa and Portola.

NOVEL DISPLAY IS PLANNED BY JAPAN FOR BIG PARADE

A float representing the style of pleasure craft used by Japanese shoguns and nobles 400 years ago and bearing Japanese children portraying Spanish characters, is to appear in the Portola parade tomorrow. The boat on the float is to be modeled after the ship in Union Square in front of the St. Francis hotel and which was also built by the Japanese Association of America.

On the float of the association will appear Master Michio Koba, 12 years old, in the costume of Portola himself. Beside this character will sit the queen of the float, also in Spanish costume. The queen, too, is to be a Japanese, little Naoko Igusa. She is 12 years of age.

Twelve little Japanese girls will be on the float, all in white costume. The association has also made arrangements for a Japanese-American band of 25 pieces. Bringing up at the rear of the Japanese display will be several decorated automobiles in which the Japanese committee men and others who have taken an active part in the festival arrangements will ride.

The Japanese, who have been ship-building in Union Square and erecting tea houses and attending to other decorations in this stretch of neutral ground, became so enthusiastic in their work that they soon began preparing for an additional exhibit and the float in the parade is the result.

BIG PORTOLA BALL ATTENDED BY BAY CITY SMART SET.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Conchita, queen of the Portola Festival, resigned last night at the great ball at the Fairmont, when 500 guests, representing exclusive society of the bay region, danced the hours away in the great ballroom. The Portola ball, second in the history of the city, was probably the biggest event seen this season. Beautiful gowns and bright lights, soft music and over all the spirit of carnival, made the affair memorable.

It was not until after 9 o'clock, following several dances, that the great affair started. Ned Greenway was at his best as floor director. Assisting him were Thornwell Muldill, E. A. Mizner, W. A. Lange, Robert M. Byrne, Latham McMullin, William H. Smith, Leon Greenbaum and Cuyler Lee.

Count Valle de Salazar, envoy of King Alfonso of Spain, delivered his message to the people on the ballroom floor. Many Oakland society women were present at the big ball. Among these were Mrs. and Mrs. Fred Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Oebert Capwell, Miss Dorothy Capwell, Miss Phyllis Capwell, Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow, Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, W. A. Lange, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McDermott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Otto, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward de Witt, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Uhl, Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, Dean C. Witter, the Misses Edna and Ellen Reinhardt.

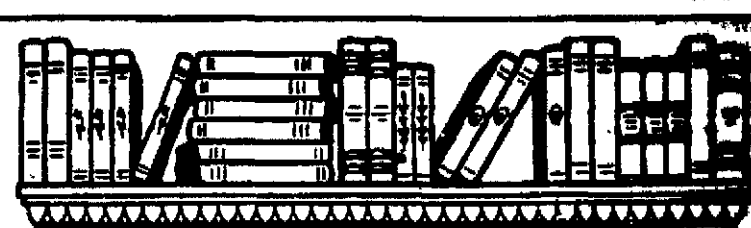

FIREWORKS SHOWN IN UNION SQUARE FOR FIRST TIME

This is the first day of the Portola festival on which day fireworks are displayed at Union Square, where a special arrangement has been made for the convenience of those who wish to witness the fireworks and hear the band concert. Fireworks will also be displayed tonight.

DR. GOODSPEED IS UPHELD BY PRESBYTERY

Resignation of First Presbyterian Pastor Is Not Accepted.

Dispute Thrown Back to Oakland Congregation for Settlement.

Friends of Rev. Frank L. Goodspeed, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, won another victory yesterday when the Oakland Presbytery refused to accept the resignation demanded of the pastor, and the resignation of the church officers, as presented by the congregation.

The entire matter of the pastor and his dispute with the church officers was thrown back for the church to settle. A congregational meeting will be called for the purpose.

Members of the congregation committee, headed by Rev. L. J. McFee, a Berkeley pastor, conducted a bitter fight primarily to have the pastor's resignation, as presented by them, accepted. When their report was read, Rev. Orlando Hart bitterly moved that the committee be discharged without thanks.

McFee, in urging that the pastor be removed from the church, was hissed by the audience when he declared that the pastor had not, because of the latter's animosity to him, offered prayers or taken official notice of the death of the late Arthur L. Adams.

"Shame! Shame!" responded persons in the audience.

"This is a cruel and false charge," declared Goodspeed.

"I insist that the name of the late Mr. Adams be left out of this fight," urged Professor A. T. Biedle.

ASKS VINDICATION.

Following this outburst, McFee withdrew from his fight against the pastor, and the vote was then taken. Several times before, when the question was about to be called, McFee had interrupted to further urge the pastor's dismissal. "I am fighting for the vindication of the committee," declared the Berkeley man.

The Oakland Presbytery has washed its hands, temporarily, of the quarrel, and Dr. Goodspeed goes back to the church with the officers still more bitter against him as a result of his victory yesterday, and the rejection of the Presbyterian committee that they resign. It is probable that they will do so.

George D. Gray appeared for the church officers yesterday at the meeting in the Brooklyn Presbyterian Church. Gray, who is one of those who resigned at the request of the committee, the resignations, however, not being filed, made many charges of unchristianlike conduct against the pastor.

"It is mostly false; false!" declared Dr. Goodspeed while Gray's charges were read. Roscoe D. Jones, appearing for the pastor, declared that Goodspeed was not the issue, but that the matter was a fight between the majority of the congregation and the church officers. Several members of the congregation threatened in open meeting that, should Goodspeed be ousted, it would cause a split in the church and the forming of a new congregation.

CHARGES DENIED.

Each of the charges against the pastor were taken up by Jones and denied as false and scouted as of no importance. As a final measure, it was voted that all statements derogatory to the church officers be expurgated from the records.

A strenuous fight is expected at the congregational meeting, which will be called to settle the dispute. The attitude for this meeting is being circulated, the church officers, it is believed, being unwilling to call the session together, knowing the stand of the congregation.

Child to Be Mascot of Oakland Shriners Plans for Patrol Visit Here Completed

WOMEN WHO ARE AIDING IN THE SHRINERS' PLANS FOR THE OAKLAND VISIT OF FOUR TEMPLES. LEFT TO RIGHT, MRS. A. J. BRADLEY, MRS. W. H. CHAPMAN AND MRS. CHARLES CHUBB.

When the nobles of Aahmes Temple, with their wives and sweethearts, the city and county officials and others bid welcome to the Shriners' patrol of the four state temples, and the visiting nobles of the south, Al Dahr and Al Malafah, Saturday morning, the place of honor will be filled by Marie Frances Le Ballister, the three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Le Ballister, who has been chosen mascot of Aahmes Temple. Baby Marie's father is one of the enthusiastic members of the temple. Baby Marie is the youngest mascot in the Shrine ranks and is bearing this distinction without pride.

All plans have been completed for the great "Hands-Around-the-State" Shrine tourists' visit to Oakland Saturday and Sunday. There will be 129 bandmen, the greatest number ever on tour in the west and including the finest amateur musicians in the state, in the massed bands. In conjunction with the concert of the Shrine bands, a parade will be held beginning at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning in which the bandmen and drummen, Aahmes and Islam temple nobles, and visiting nobles will take part. The bandmen and drummen will appear in their gorgeous blue and gold silk and satin uniforms. The visitors will be the guests at a luncheon Sunday, which will be attended by many of the prominent men of the city. The members of Aahmes temple will place their automobiles at the disposal of the visitors and they will be taken on a sight-seeing trip before the afternoon concert. The women's committee, of which Mrs. Charles Chubb is chairman, is co-operating with the committee of which George S. Meredith is chairman. Meredith received a telegram today from J. R. D. Mackenzie, who is making the tour, that the Shriners' concert is proving the most successful ever held in the state.

ARE WELL SUPPORTED.

"We are receiving the heartiest support," Mackenzie wired. "It has been realized that the concert proceeds will be used to advertise the entire state, when we take our massed bands and combined patrols east next year to attend the Imperial Council session at Atlanta, Ga., and all sectional lines have been wiped out. I feel that Oakland will make a showing of which to be proud."

The women of the Oakland Temple have started several plans for aiding in the work of the Shriners in Oakland, when they will give concerts at Idora Park, Mrs. A. J. Bradley, Mrs. W. H. Chapman and Mrs. Charles Chubb are particularly active.

The Shriners were accorded a hearty welcome in San Jose, where they gave a concert. Margie Davison, Hughes, Ell Alderson, Franz Hella, and several other soloists were featured. The visiting Shriners were banqueted after the affair.

TROUBLES AT CHICKENS' BALL

Painter Has Head Battered; Master of Ceremonies Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—At the "chickens' ball" on Mason street at 2 o'clock this morning, Henry Appleman, a painter of 373 Third street, became involved in a fight and had his head badly battered. The crowd surged around him, but despite a severe beating which he received he managed to hold on to $410 which he had in his pocket and had the money intact when he reached the Central Emergency Hospital for treatment. The revelers had hardly settled back to their fun-making when Corporal Boland and posse walked in and arrested Martin Rubin, a hatter, and the master of ceremonies for violating Ordinance 82, which provides against dancing after 1 o'clock in the morning.

GOVERNMENT CAUGHTS NOTE COUNTERFEITERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Secret service operators have given fresh indication that the art of counterfeiting is not altogether profitable. It was announced today by Chief W. J. Flinn that the misguided persons who sought to reproduce copies of the $50, $20, $5 and $1 notes, against all had been apprehended. Both the utterers and those responsible for the circulation of the counterfeit, according to Chief Flinn, are now in the hands of the government.

At the same time the secret service issued notice of its discovery of still another counterfeit $10 gold certificate. It is reported not to be highly dangerous, however, for the workmanship on it is poor, the coloring bad and its general makeup such that it should be told at a glance.

FLEET OF VESSELS LIFTED THROUGH LOCKS

PANAMA, Oct. 23.—Fifteen vessels, including three dredges, were lifted together from the sea channel to the surface of Gatun lake through the Gatun locks yesterday. The operation consumed about four hours, a longer time than usual owing to difficulty in maneuvering so many craft at one time into a proper position. These dredges and auxiliary craft are destined to form part of a dredging fleet in the Culebra cut section. The work of trenching and blasting has been abandoned as useless and the engineers have resorted to dredging, which is done in the water in the south section reaches a depth of 28 feet a dredge from the Pacific entrance will be lifted through the Pacific locks and set to work excavating the slide.

CLERGYMAN FORSAKES CHURCH FOR THEATRE

NEW HAVEN (Conn.), Oct. 23.—Rev. Alexandra Irvine, who is appearing in the Bijou Theater in the leading part of a melodramatic sketch written by himself and entitled "The Parish of St. Jude," was asked yesterday if he had abandoned the pulpit. He replied: "Absolutely and forever. I am preaching the same message on the stage that for ten years I have preached in the pulpit, but the church no longer wants to hear that message. Perhaps the time will come when the stage will no longer want my message. Then I will go God knows where to preach."

"Three years ago I gave up the pulpit, my last preaching being done at the Church of the Ascension on Fifth avenue New York."

GIVEN DIVORCE FROM CAPTAIN R. B. MOORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The divorce granted by Judge Moore from Captain R. B. Moore, Coast Artillery, N. G. C., was yesterday granted by default. On September 23 Mrs. Moore filed complaint for separation, charging that the Captain had failed to provide the common necessities of life for her. The Moores were married in Los Angeles May 5, 1909. Captain Moore stepped into the line-light September 25, when it was learned that some funds of the Second Coast Artillery Company, of which he is attached, were misused. It appeared at the investigation that the personal funds of the Captain and the company money became mixed with no intentional dishonesty on the part of the officer and he was exonerated.

"TIM" SULLIVAN'S SEAT IN COURT CONTENTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The seat in Congress left vacant by the recent death of Timothy D. Sullivan may not be filled this fall. An application was drawn up for presentation to the Supreme Court of the United States today asking that an order be granted restraining the Board of Elections from printing on the ballots the names of any candidates to the Thirteenth Congressional District, which Sullivan represented. The election of a Congressman to fill a vacancy cannot be made part of a general election without executive order and no such order has been made, according to William J. Wilkins, who is seeking the injunction.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines. 21 VICTIMS' BODIES FOUND

Superhuman Effort Is Made to Reach the Clogged Shaft

Twenty-five in Upper Levels Are Rescued

BECKLEY, N. M., Oct. 23.—At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a fire had broken out in old No. 2 Stag Canon mine, which connects with No. 2. It was feared that the fire would spread to the workings in which the men are entombed.

DAWSON, N. M., Oct. 23.—The late of approximately 256 men remaining in the workings of No. 2 Stag Canon Mine, entombed by a terrific explosion yesterday, remained unknown at noon today, despite the almost superhuman endeavors of hundreds of volunteers to penetrate workings strewn with debris and filled with poisonous gases. The bodies of 29 victims have been removed and 25 were found alive in the upper levels.

"When we reach the air shaft we will find many men safe," was the oft-repeated hope voiced throughout the night. The men alive and only partly conscious and three of the bodies were the reward when the air shaft was finally reached today. However, mine officials still insisted that others would be found alive.

So absorbed have officials been in the work of resuscitating no check has been made on the number of men in the mines at the hour of the disaster, and it seemed certain that at least 250, perhaps more, were entombed.

WORK IN RELAYS
During the morning scores of experienced miners from the Colorado and fresh squads were sent into the workings as their predecessors emerged almost exhausted. Shortly before 11 o'clock it was announced that 25 bodies had been located, but several hours must elapse before they could be brought to the surface. Meantime the workers pushed forward to carry succor to those they hoped might be still alive.

Six of the bodies brought to the surface had been identified at 11 o'clock, including two Americans, Arthur English and Walter Johnson.
Indications early today were that the first aid corps working under the direction of J. B. Morrow would reach the majority of the day shift which was caught in the cave-in some time today. Hope was strong that the great air fans that had been driven all night would have diluted the gas so that the trapped men might be found alive.

BLAZK DAMP IGNITES
Opinions as to the cause of the explosion differ. It was first asserted that black damp ignited and exploded. Later the fact developed that at this time of the year the mine in the adjacent southern districts of Colorado become dangerous from the prevalence of coal dust which no amount of ventilation can keep under control. General Manager James Douglas of the Phelps-Dodge & Company property is reported hurrying here with doctors and nurses from Douglas, Arizona.

The entombed men's flight to reach the shaft, the rescue organization for the care of the dead and the dying victims was perfected. A camp was set up for rescuers, a hospital prepared for the injured and a morgue for the dead.

As the bodies of the dead were borne to the morgue, women came eagerly forward to identify the victims. A guard was thrown about the property to maintain order and the curious from adjacent towns were driven back out of the way of rescuers.

RESCUERS REACH THREE.
The rescuers one time reached the foot of the shaft, but were unable to get down. Three living men and three dead bodies were found at this point.

At 6 o'clock this morning a total of 35 living men were rescued, two more than previously reported. Helicopters were still working short shifts, and it was believed that every part of the mine would be explored before many hours had passed. Rescuers were working through the mine shafts, No. 2 and also through tunnels which connect this mine with mines Nos 3 and 5.

LONG WAY FROM HELP.
The men still missing are at least 3000 feet from the entrance to the tunnel. Men equipped with oxygen helmets and relieving each other at short intervals are forcing their way, foot by foot, through the debris to halt for hours while fallen rock and coal is removed. No prediction is made as to how long it will take to penetrate the innermost recesses of the mine.

Marrowing scenes were enacted at the scene and around the mouth of the tunnel. The injured men were taken to the hospital, and the dead were removed to their graves. For the present little effort is made to bring out bodies, all efforts being concentrated on the supreme effort to save the men who may still be entombed, alive, in the smothering pit.

Many of the men were permitted to assist in the work, in the hope that they would be able to find their way out of the mine. The men who were rescued were taken to the hospital, and the dead were removed to their graves.

Housewives in Philadelphia Fight High Living Cost

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Philadelphia housewives and retail butchers organized yesterday to fight the high cost of living by cutting out the middleman's profits. Leaders in the movement promise that the price of meat, butter and eggs will be reduced 10 to 20 percent below current rates. The housewives, under the leadership of Mrs. William B. Derr, who conducted the eggs crusade here last winter, agreed to give their patronage to the butchers who are forming an organization to buy direct from the producer.

Efforts are being made to enroll 6000 butchers in the organization, which proposed to buy beef directly from Argentine and eggs and butter from western dairies and creameries.

INDIANS' FRIENDS PROPOSE COUNCIL

International Control of Philippines Suggested at Lake Mohonk Conference.

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Control of the Philippines by an international council was proposed today at the Lake Mohonk Conference of Friends of the Indians and other dependent people. The suggestion came from A. S. Lanier of Richmond, Va., assistant solicitor of the department of agriculture, who served in the Philippines for several years as assistant of the bureau of justice. The plan calls for a council composed of members selected by the United States, England, France, Germany, Russia and Japan, and possibly other nations. The body would select a chief executive. It would be an upper legislative house of the islands, with a lower house composed entirely of natives.

Any questions on which the members of the council could not agree would be submitted to The Hague tribunal. Eventually, Mr. Lanier believed, the Philippines would be able to govern his own country, and when this time arrived the international council would be abolished.

Missionary and educational work among the Moros and pagan tribes was treated by the Right Rev. Samuel J. McManister, Episcopal bishop of Chicago.
Other speakers included Martin Egan, formerly editor of the Manila Times; Joseph R. McLaughlin of Seattle and the Rev. James B. Rodgers, missionary of the Philippine bishop of Manila.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Wilson and Secretary Daniels took a dry land "cruise" last night, when they visited the District of Columbia Naval Militia Battalion at its armory, which has been transformed to resemble the deck of a battleship. The occasion was the review of the battleship forces of the United States and the head of the naval establishment. When the President appeared he was "piped" over the side and ceremoniously escorted to the quarter deck to greet the senior officers. The battalion then passed in review and later went to the mess hall for dinner.

President Wilson did not speak, but Secretary Daniels complimented the battalion upon its appearance.

It ran along the ties for nearly a hundred yards, then fell into a ditch, where it landed bottom up. Motorist T. Stoney told officials that the brakes failed to work.

DISAGREED ON TEMPERANCE QUESTION

Gov. Baldwin Opposes Amendment to Congregational Convention.

Church Declared to Be Drifting Away From Common People.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 23.—Disagreement on the temperance question loomed up at the National Council of the Governor Simon Baldwin of Connecticut announced himself as opposed to the recommendations of the committee on temperance at an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquor within the United States. Governor Baldwin said that to have a substantial following the National Council held but a short session this morning. At the meeting of the Home Missionary Society, most of the speakers dwelt on the spectacle of the church drifting away from the common people and catering to the rich. In this connection the delegates were warned that the future success depended on a revival of interest in the workingman and his family.

In an address last night Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y., the retiring moderator, who declared Christianity today is for fishing and the church is holding its own.

"Mankind still is incurably religious," said Dr. Boynton, "and the instinct of religion never more than today asks its brave questions, claims its unshelved hopes and imitates its inspiring adventures."

"Congregationalism has few more serious concerns than those which gather about her ministry. In our inability to supply our churches with men trained in our own seminaries and beneath our Christian idealism, we are supplying some of our churches with men whose devotion and piety are worthy of all commendation, but whose lack of thorough training makes the safeguarding of our high ideals of Christian duty and privilege difficult, if not impossible."

SMALL SALARY FOR MINISTER.
"It need hardly be said that the pitifully small average salary which Congregational ministers receive makes the living conditions of many not only humble, which is to be expected but cruelly and persistently unrighteous. The movement which this council will make for an honorable recognition of the dignity of ministerial service is one which ought to arouse our interest in this respect—somewhat."

A strong movement for the election of a layman as moderator was subdued when W. W. Mills of Marietta, O., and Henry H. Beardsley of Kansas City, Mo., drew their names after they had been nominated. Previously delegates had nominated Beardsley, charging that to elect a minister as moderator again was a violation of the constitution of the council. Just at the height of a five-minute demonstration in favor of his selection, Beardsley took the platform and declared that his other work would prevent him from considering the place.

The election of Rev. Charles R. Brown, dean of the divinity school of Yale University, formerly of Oakland, Cal., followed on the first ballot. Beardsley was unanimously named assistant moderator, and Dr. A. C. Garner, a negro pastor of Washington, D. C., was chosen second assistant moderator.

APPLAUD UNION.
Every allusion by speakers to a movement to unite the churches of the country and the world met with prolonged applause. Just before adjournment a telegram from the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in London, was read.

"We send fraternal greetings and pray that the day may be hastening when all Christians shall be joined together in that peace and unity for which our Lord Jesus Christ died."

Rev. Charles A. Blanchard of Wheaton, Ill., leader of the conservative faction, created excitement when he moved that a message of greeting, a committee had prepared to send to the Universalist Church convention in Chicago, be canceled, and that the council not recognize any non-evangelical sect.

Governor Simon Baldwin of Connecticut rose quietly and said: "Congregationalism does not stand for any such narrowness. The remarks of the gentlemen who has just spoken are unkindly, coming as it does when we Congregationalists have our hands out for church unity."

Dr. Blanchard's motion was rejected 69 to 4, and the council was sent to the next session.

LEAVE PUBLIC PROBLEMS SOLELY TO MEN? NO!

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The solution of railroad, tariff, currency and other public problems should not be left solely to men, said Mrs. Robert LaFollette wife of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, in an address at a meeting last night at the Hotel Marlborough in Boston. The speaker, a member of the Boston Equal Suffrage Association for good government.

"Certainly," she said, "every woman will concede that insofar as the railroad rates and tariffs and trusts affect the lives of the people, it is the woman who must bear the brunt. When women's clothes and sugar and rice-ralls are increased in price by the woman who has to plan and pinch to make both ends meet and if they want meat, it is woman almost every time who goes without."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The new Federal Industrial Commission empowered by Congress to inquire into economic conditions in the United States, held its first meeting today and elected Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City permanent chairman and professor J. R. Commons of Madison, Wis., temporary secretary.

The commission was addressed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor of America, who expressed the hope and belief that the commission would be able to do its duty.

Printing Bills Evidence Against Dr. J. G. Lyman

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Bills for printing and checks tendered in partial payment were shown today to the jury in the federal court where Dr. J. G. Lyman is on trial for the alleged fraudulent use of the mails. L. P. Smith, a salesman for a concern which did most of the printing of the defendant Panama Development Company, of which Lyman is alleged to have been a partner, testified that he had printed bills and checks. He testified that Lyman and the development company still owed his concern $1800.

While Edwin R. Regan, special prosecutor, was showing the documents to the jury, Lyman manifested much impatience. He wrote notes to the newspapermen asking if they knew why the government's attorney was "so coy" in bringing proof of the charges against him. The defendant threatened to call the witness some doubt as to whether he will still stand in his own defense.

Leon's partner, Mum Tung, was also arrested and charged with vagrancy.

WOMAN WITNESS IN DAMAGE CASE COLLAPSES

After undergoing a severe cross-examination in Superior Judge Wells' court this morning, Mrs. Ella D. Soule, a witness in the suit of William L. Wells against the Southern Railway and Terminal Railway for $50,000 damages, collapsed from the witness stand and a street car which struck Wells at Eighteenth and San Pablo avenue last Saturday. In addition to the $50,000 plaintiff asks $5000 as punitive damages.

FOUR INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Machine Fails to Take Curve; Turns Completely Over.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—In an attempt to take a short curve at Julian Serra boulevard at 2 o'clock this morning, a large touring car, driven by John Campaigne of 1008 Larkin street, chauffeur for the Auto Sales Company, turned completely over, pinning two of the occupants beneath it and causing the injury of four persons.

Miss Ruth Bixby and Miss Bernice Carroll, both of 1008 Larkin street, were caught under the tonneau and had a most marvelous escape from death or serious injury. When, after considerable delay, the car was lifted and the girls extricated, unhurt save for several bruises, but their minds were at their good fortune. Campaigne was the most seriously injured.

effects of which he will carry through life. His upper lip was torn, his nose was broken, his legs and arms bruised. The fourth occupant of the machine, Gustave Ford, suffered a dislocated shoulder and other injuries. He was the hero of the occasion, making his way for a half mile in search of aid and lifting the heavy auto, secure in the belief that he would find his companions dead or dying on his return.

AUTO IS CAPITALIST'S.
The automobile is the property of Lucius A. Allen, a prominent merchant and capitalist of 356 Washington street, and had been left at the garage for repairs. Ford and Campaigne were taking it out to test it, but decided to take a trip following the Portola revelry. They met the two girls and invited them for a spin. They were going along the boulevard, had passed the county line and were nearing the Villa Maestri when the car was pitched clear of the auto.

Ed Wynn, well-known as the boy with the funny hat has a big new act this year called "The King's Jester." He carries a half dozen puppets and makes quite a production of it. It is even funnier than his old vehicle and that is saying a great deal.

Ernest Da..., who has been the World's Mine, "The Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," and a lot of other popular songs. He is here this week with popular songs. He is here this week with popular songs.

Margaret Des and her players appear in a lively farce called "The Soul Saver," which is full of fun and with lines with some very amusing comedy situations. The motion pictures are unusually good.

VIENNA OPERA COMPANY TO SING HERE WEEKLY

Many years have passed since we had an opportunity to listen to a German opera sung and played by professional artists. The Vienna Opera Company (Wiener Operette Gesellschaft), which during this season, is playing at the German House Auditorium in San Francisco, decided to give one performance weekly at the Grand Hotel, in the West.

known as the queen of all up-to-date variety operettas, and composed by the waltz king, Johann Strauss. "Die Fledermaus" ("The Bat") is full of melodies and waltzes, and the Vienna Opera Company, which played this operetta all over the States and in all the principal cities of Europe, made itself a name with this real artistic production. According to opinions among newspapermen, critics of other cities, especially San Francisco we can expect a first-class production. The stage of the Germania Hall has been rebuilt for these performances. Tickets in advance can be bought at Sherman, Clay & Co., Fourteenth and Clay streets.

At Local Playhouses

It is really a festival of laughs at the Oakland Orpheum this week instead of a regular vaudeville show, for almost all of the features stir up fun and leave the crowds almost exhausted with laughter. Not in many months has there been a program so full of rollicksome fun. All of the acts are new except the Jungmann family, who open the show. There are several big novelties that lend the spice of surprise to the evening's entertainment.

Immense laughter is stirred up by the Langlands, a trio of funsters in a delightful sketch called "A Night on the Boulevard." They have a truck automobile, a safe waiter, who is the butt of much fun, and a chauffeur who is a veritable scream, with a lady to round out the cast. So many things happen that a list of them can't be given but at the time everybody is holding his sides with laughter. Some very pretty scenery adds to the sparkling quality of the act.

Ed Wynn, who is the big novelty of the show with a wonderful protean act called "Into the Light," Miss Parry is the greatest woman protean artist in the world and she impersonates a half dozen characters in quick succession at a murder trial, making the lightning changes for each. She exhibits cleverness of the wonderful sort. There is a big surprise in the act at the finish which would not be fair to place to reveal here.

The Heurman Trio of comedy cyclists are amazing. Charles Brown and May Newman have a lively potpourri of songs and comedy bits with which the crowd is diverted. Margaret Des and her players appear in a lively farce called "The Soul Saver," which is full of fun and with lines with some very amusing comedy situations. The motion pictures are unusually good.

Lulu Glaser is to come next Sunday.

PANTAGES

The much-heralded "Al Abbot," a golden-robed singer, whose popular song characterizations are inimitable and distinct, is more than meeting expectations at the Pantages this week, where he is one of the feature attractions, and his success is most pronounced. The motion picture "The Pantages" is a sure fire delivery. His expression of a remarkable personality distinguishes him from the average "three-day" character singer. The children are having all sorts of fun at the Pantages this week. What with these being no school on the Pantages, and the Marx and the Keaton's of comedy motion pictures.

For the coming week the Pantages will present Mrs. Myrtle Wright and "Babe" Wright, the stout-hearted heroines of the "Babe" series of pictures. All records and establishing themselves as the champions. They will sport in a huge fish tank and show the strokes that won the crown. Motion pictures of the Portola festivities will also be shown in the bill of eight new acts.

WEARS STOLEN CLOTHES; PLACED UNDER ARREST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—When Raymond Gonzales, a sailor, walked down the gang plank of the steamer Queen this morning he wore three pairs of trousers and a dancing coat. His bulky appearance caused the suspicions of the night watch on board and they summoned Policeman Slattery. The officer at once took stock of Gonzales' extra baggage and he was taken into custody. A policeman seized one of the coats as belonging to him and David Hernandez, a coal passer, discovered that his trousers were missing from a hook by his bunk. Gonzales was charged with burglary.

DYING FIRES FATAL SHOT TO PREVENT TRIPLE TRAGEDY

GRIM DEATH IS END OF DUEL IN DARK

Homesteader From California Killed by Constable in Battle.

Officer Will Probably Die of Wound; Triple Tragedy Prevented.

LEWISTON, Mont., Oct. 23.—As the result of a pistol duel in the dark over a plowed field, Constable A. B. Cheney of Denton, Mont., Tuesday night shot and killed Stanley B. Scofield, aged 25, a young homesteader from Trempo, Cal., and was himself shot and probably fatally wounded by Scofield. The tragedy prevented a worse one, as Scofield was waiting, the authorities say, to kill his former sweetheart, Miss Hazel Wright of Denton, and James Johnston, a farmer, after which he planned to kill himself.

Scofield showed no ill-feeling over his rejection by Miss Wright until Tuesday night, when he went to the Johnston farm, two miles north of Denton, Mrs. Johnston being his aunt. When Johnston opened the door Scofield asked him to step out as he did so. Scofield jumped between him and the door and, covering him with a revolver, ordered him to get out his automobile. Scofield told Johnston to get in, drive to Denton, get Miss Wright and drive back in a hurry. He then turned to the farmer by saying he intended to kill Miss Wright on her arrival and intended to inflict the same penalty on Johnston.

LEAVE WITH REVOLVERS.
When Johnston found Miss Wright and told her what had occurred, the girl determined to risk her own life rather than risk the lives of others exposed to the man's jealous fury. Johnston, with Constable Cheney and Justice Webb Morrow, took their revolvers and entered the car. Some distance from the Johnston home the officers got out to talk over the plowed field to the home.

As Constable Cheney advanced, he made out the figure of a man 50 feet away and ordered him to throw up his hands. The answer was a shot from Scofield, and the men advanced toward each other. Scofield fired seven shots, while Cheney fired three. Scofield's last shot struck Cheney in the left breast. As he fell he called out "I am shot" and fired for the third time. This bullet struck Scofield in the face, going into the brain and killing him instantly.

COMMERCIAL CLUB INVITES P. MEN
Suggestion in Tribune Editorial Adopted and Officials Are Formally Invited.

Adopting the suggestion made in a TRIBUNE editorial, the board of directors of the Oakland Commercial Club last night extended an invitation to Julius Kruttschnitt, with Judge Lovett, President Sproule and other high officials of Pacific states, to visit Oakland. Asking that a date be set for the trip, the club has requested that the railway men, as its guests, look over the city, see what Oakland needs and what Oakland promises for the future, and thus gain an understanding and cement the cordial relations between the city and company.

The matter was unanimously carried, on the suggestion of Managing Director Joseph E. Caine. "I have here, in a TRIBUNE editorial," he declared, "a suggestion of intense value to us. The plan of inviting these railroad officials here, entertaining them with all the hospitality Oakland can tender and thus show them what Oakland can do is a good one." The matter was carried and this morning the invitations were wired.

The directors last night endorsed the movement of the National Guard, Company F, of Oakland, for a machine gun company. Several matters of routine business were passed upon.

Prisoner's Name Not Mentioned at Trial

KIEV, Russia, Oct. 23.—When the trial of Mendel Beiliss for the alleged murder of the Christian boy Yushinsky in March, 1911, reopened this morning the prisoner's counsel called the attention of the presiding judge to the fact that although the court set yesterday from early in the morning until midnight, the prisoner's name was not once mentioned. Counsel asked the president to put this on record and he consented to do so.

WOMAN PRESIDENT OF RAILROAD BEING SUED

Mrs. Meta J. Erickson, president of the Amador Central Railroad and the only woman in California having the distinction of holding such an office, is defendant in a suit being heard before Superior Judge Waste today, brought by Ward A. Stevens, a distant relative who claims attorney fees for his assistance in ownership of the railroad passed into her control. Stevens asks for remuneration at the rate of $225 per month for six months and $1000 in addition. Mrs. Erickson's husband was a member of the firm of Erickson & Peterson, contractors who built the road. For her part, she says that the services of Stevens were required for only two months.

Lloyd George Predicts Equal Suffrage

Chancellor Expects Law to Pass Soon

As Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst appeared on board the "Providence," When she landed in New York Harbor.

Anti-Suffragist Organization Expresses Disapproval of Pankhurst Tactics

SWINDON, England, Oct. 23.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George believes that a measure giving the parliamentary suffrage to women in the British Isles will become a law within a short time, but not during the present parliament. He said this today in reply to questions put to him by a deputation from a number of suffrage societies.

ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS' OPINION.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—"Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the world's leading advocate of riot and rebellion and destruction of property when necessary, is at least consistent. For this American public should be grateful, because it knows she is in this country as the impersonation of the suffrage militancy which has outlasted Great Britain. And, realizing this, the public is in a position to disregard both her preaching and her example."

With these words the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage broke its silence regarding the Pankhurst case in a statement issued from its Washington headquarters. "Neither this organization nor any of its representatives," continues the statement, "filed objections to the admission of Mrs. Pankhurst. We have refused to discuss the case up to the present time because we took the ground that the affair was one of law."

"But, since she is here, it becomes our duty to express in the most emphatic terms our disapproval of her tactics and her doctrines, and to point out the danger that threatens the United States because of the hysterical tendency of many suffragists to exploit her, to side with her and to emulate her methods."

Defeat for re-election for all those who oppose the adoption of a constitutional amendment to assure nationwide woman suffrage, including senators and representatives in congress and members of the state legislatures, is the avowed object of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, who arrived here today.

BURN SPORTS PAVILION.
LONDON, Oct. 23.—A " arson squad" of militant suffragists today set fire to and destroyed the sports pavilion of Briston University.

Sylvia Pankhurst has been released under license from Holloway jail. She is much enfeebled and emaciated in consequence of a hunger strike of a week's duration. She was arrested on October 13 as she was about to address a meeting of militants.

POLICE HOLD TO POISON THEORY

Mrs. Flint Deviates That Son Did Not Scatter Arsenic in Home.

Authorities Believe Young Richard Was Guilty as Has Been Charged.

BERKELEY, Oct. 23.—Despite the fact that Mrs. Richard Flint of 1251 Euclid avenue declares her belief that her son did not scatter the poison that was found about her home the morning after his disappearance, the police have abandoned their work on the case since the return home of young Flint. The police see no other explanation of the presence of the poison than that it was placed there by the young man.

Richard Flint denied himself to interviewers today. In company with his mother and sister, Miss Olive Flint, who is a taxidermist in San Francisco, he returned last evening from San Jose, where he was found by the police. Mrs. Flint and her daughter proceeded to that city from Morgan Hill, where he had been reported to be and where they had gone.

Where the poison found scattered about the house came from appeared today in the statement that Miss Olive Flint made use of the drug in her business and that a can containing a quantity of the paste had been kept in the basement. The contents of this can were not in evidence afterwards. So far as is known the whereabouts of the can in the basement of the house was within the knowledge only of members of the family.

WILL CONFER ON PLAN FOR HARBOR

Lieut. Colonel Rees, Colonel Heuer and Others to Be Called for Discussion.

With the purpose of arriving at a decision regarding the harbor plans suggested by different officials and commercial bodies, a conference, between Lieut. Colonel Thomas H. Rees, of the war department harbor line board, Colonel W. H. Heuer, formerly in that position, City Engineer Perry F. Brown, and several other prominent men will be called, at which the harbor matter will be thoroughly discussed. This was decided yesterday, when the special harbor committee of the Oakland Commercial Club met to hear matters relating to the harbor.

Changes in the Rees plan, as outlined by Heuer and Brown allowing the completion of the Key Route basin project without interference, were urged on the Rees plan, removing the dangers which have caused opposition from the commercial organizations and others to the Rees project as originally outlined. The conference will, it is expected, result in the Rees plan being so modified as to remove their dangers to Oakland's prospects and it is also hoped to complete these in time to send the report to Washington next week.

The conference will be held in a few days in the San Francisco office of Colonel Rees. The Commercial club committee will receive a report of this session.

Among those present yesterday at the committee meeting, which called the conference were: Colonel Thomas H. Rees, Congressman Joseph R. Knowland, former Governor George C. Pardee, W. W. Garthwaite (representing the Key Route system), Dr. Warner H. Haysman of Berlin, the "city planner," who is drawing up a working plan for the whole of Oakland; M. J. Layman, Mayor Frank K. Mott, A. S. Layman, W. W. Keith, John F. Connors, H. C. Capwell, City Commissioner Harry S. Anderson, J. I. Eccleston, Managing Director Joseph E. Caine, Assistant City Engineer Thomas Reilly and W. W. Keith, traffic manager of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway.

WILD DUCKS COME HIGH

Frank Diehl, a poultry man, who was arrested yesterday for violating the state game laws by having wild ducks in his possession, forfeited $25 but this morning in the police court, when he failed to appear for arraignment.

WASHINGTON IRVING SUED FOR DIVORCE

Grand Nephew of the Author Faces the Allegations

Washington Irving, wealthy clubman and insurance broker of San Francisco and grand-nephew of the famous author of "Sunset" who has been sued for divorce by his wife, Susan Rhea Irving, had a propensity for servant girls employed in the family mansion in Piedmont avenue, Berkeley, according to gossip over tea cups following filing of the secret complaint several days ago. It is said that his apparent preference for numerous young women extended over practically the 32 years of his married life.

Upon his return from a five months' trip abroad recently it developed that Mrs. Irving and her daughter had left the Berkeley home and taken apartments in the Lakeside in Oakland. Irving is said to be living at a San Francisco club.

Irving, who is prominent in state insurance circles, has an income of $25,000 per year, it is said, and property valued at nearly $500,000. Out of this Mrs. Irving asks for $600 per month alimony.

Mrs. Inez Davis has entered a default in her suit for divorce against Dr. F. J. Davis, former Newport physician, who is now living in Oakland. Mrs. Davis says that her husband had an aversion to her as a wife and that he told her that "wives were only incidents." Dr. Davis was at one time famous physician to the Goulds and the Belmonts, and owned a private yacht named the Ita. He is first wife, Julia, obtained a divorce from him in Salt Lake City and his second wife, Emma, is said to be living in Newport.

BUBONIC RATS ON DOCKS OF SEATTLE

Government and State Authorities Co-operate to Prevent Spread of Plague.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Official reports to Public Health Service headquarters say seven rats infected with bubonic plague have been found in the waterfront district of Seattle this month. Surgeon General Hays considers that the situation requires active measures, while Assistant Surgeon-General Rucker, who has been placed directly in charge of the work, has ordered Surgeon French Simpson from San Francisco to assist Surgeon Lloyd at Seattle. The state and local health authorities are co-operating with the federal officers.

Fumigation of ships has been ordered at Seattle, and special precautions are being taken to prevent communication of the infection between Seattle, San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles. Public health officials are not alarmed at the situation, but consider it one for prompt and active measures.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23.—Mildred Lane, 17 years old, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Lane of this city and a bride of four days, is missing, and her husband, Roy Johnson, is in jail stoutly maintaining he knows nothing of his wife's whereabouts.

Johnson eloped with the girl to Woodland last Saturday and they were married. Johnson says his wife left Sunday night and he has not seen her since, although he received two messages from her Monday by a messenger. Johnson is a typewriter salesman, 29 years old, and admits he was divorced by his first wife in Oklahoma.

Somebody Called It Real "Cute," Chef Heard From land is angry. In fact, he is "lighting mad." The latest fat in small statues is the cause, and his "Temple of Love" wedding cake, which was to have been a masterpiece, was instead a "cute" creation. Could any chef bear a marvelous creation over four feet in height, being called "cute" at the big wedding of the season?

Miles Tonnerres! It is to swear! The big cake at the wedding reception of Joseph R. Rotherough and Josephine Heinrich was the "Temple of Love" which caused the rumpus. Zumbach had planned a remarkable creation, and at each corner he left space on the frosting for a small Cupid. Then, at the last moment, he found that he had not.

Heavily summing Maitre d'Hotel Petersen, he asked him to find the statues. Petersen tried several stores. "Nothing doing," he reported.

ZUMBACH TO RESUME.
"Cochon!" remarked the chef, and clapping his hat on his head, went himself in search of the statues. He came back wearing a broad smile and carrying a box. The cake appeared, but alas! Too late the chef discovered that he had been sold "Kewpies" and not Cupids. Moreover, crowning horrors! The chef was not a master of the grout-like little statues stuck out on white frosting in a way that grated the chef to his very marrow.

The guests were delighted. They told him his cake was novel, and charming. Still was the chef despondent. They told him it was a masterpiece. He cheered up somewhat. Then one of the guests told him it "was too cute for anything!"

Down in the kitchen Zumbach kicked his hat about the floor.

"Wedding cake! Cute! Bah!" he declared.

The guests were charmed, the waiters admired the cake—but Zumbach feels that his honor as a chef is gone forever, and only wants one thing—to get his hands on the man that sold him those "Kewpies."

Parents of Missing Berkeley Man Not Duped by Telegrams for Money.

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—Mrs. George L. Henson of this city is expecting word today from Salt Lake City of the arrest of a man she believes is an impostor, who has been claiming to be her missing son and has wired her for funds. Her son, George Edward Henson, has been missing since he was 17 years old.

The man in Salt Lake City, when questioned by police there, was apparently ignorant of all facts connected with the Henson family.

Henson is 27 years of age and unmarried. He left home September 23 and has not since been seen. He carried $100 in his pocket at the time he disappeared. Wide publicity in the press was given his disappearance.

October 15, the young man's father, a contractor of this city, received a wire asking for $100. Because the whole name of the missing man was signed instead of "George," the father was suspicious.

Mr. Henson is fearful that her son has met foul play and that the person sending the telegrams for money has some knowledge of his disappearance. The Salt Lake police have been asked to watch for the man.
